

ABOUT THE BOOK

When Photography Meets Poetry is a soulful blend of evocative images and heartfelt verse, inviting readers on a journey from darkness to light, loss to healing. Through Magdi Bissada's tender photography and Amel Dali's stirring poetry, this book captures the quiet beauty of life's fragile moments. A tribute to resilience, love, and reflection, it encourages you to pause, feel deeply, and rediscover meaning in the everyday. More than a book—it's an emotional experience meant to be felt as much as read.

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Amel Dali and Magdi Bissada are passionate artists whose work invites readers into a deeply emotional and healing journey. Amel, a poet and painter from Algeria, transforms personal hardship into powerful art. Shaped by the trauma of the Algerian Black Decade, she found refuge in poetry and painting, mediums that express raw emotion and resilience. Magdi, a Canadian photographer with roots from Egypt and East Africa, having lived in Switzerland for 15 years, brings a multicultural perspective and a heartfelt pursuit of light and connection to his imagery. Together, their fusion of poetry and photography offers a poignant reflection on the human experience.

A LOOK INSIDE

A Sacred Bond

With photography and poetry,
a sacred bond,
No competition, just a sweet respond.
Each click of the lens,
a story to tell,
Each verse I write, a dream to compel.
Frozen images, emotions in echo,
Words in rhythm, a flow that will grow.
Capture a thousand moments in light,
Write as many poems as the soul takes flight...

Eternal present

When dawn lights up the sky, soft and silent,
It splits the night with a glow of gold and rose.
It leaves those who dare to contemplate
breathless,
As if beauty itself revealed itself
in secret.
When the majesty of the moment suspends
time,
When the dawning light makes the air vibrate
softly,
We feel a new dance in our hearts,
An ancient whisper, an eternal promise...
