

MORE ABOUT FOUNDER KAREN MAYER

Passion for art has been a lifelong theme for me, including making art, viewing and studying it and the people who are drawn to it.

This passion informs my daily thoughts and creative approach to every thing I do. After a full career in Sales and Marketing roles I made the drastic decision to pursue art more seriously...

I launched the first version of www.savvyartmarket.com in 2012 with the goal of transforming how Canadians live with art. Frankly put...

My goal was to get more Canadians to live with art and experience it in their own space.

I took a deep dive into the art industry to help others understand it and become more comfortable buying and owning art. I became a resource for people who want to be art collectors.

Now fully curated by me, I am happy to offer fantastic Canadian artwork worldwide and as we evolve, continually develop more art collectors along the way.

In 2016 I had the pleasure of connecting with Sotheby's International Realty Canada, Oakville Regional Office.

I accepted their generous invitation to exhibit artwork by SavvyArt Market artists on a daily basis. Visitors who drop by while strolling through downtown Oakville view our artwork.

We are so thankful for partners like Sotheby's Realty Canada, who are instrumental in promoting the importance of art and culture.

If you are able to, feel free to drop by...

Fiona and Paula of Sotheby's do such a great job making you feel welcome -- visitors are surprised to be viewing the SavvyArt Market gallery in a business office space. It is highly unusual but a super arrangement for both parties...

Please know that you are experiencing a thriving gallery because of the support of a corporate citizen. So don't worry - the public is welcome and you won't experience any sales promotion about real estate. Come on in! 125 Lakeshore Road East, Suite 200, Oakville, ON Canada

I openly welcome you to the SavvyArt Market community, where you will always feel welcome and free to ask questions and discuss featured artworks, your space or needs and our client focused services.

Even if we may only connect online you will see we are a group of passionate people that can help you bring good art into your life; which is so important for your well being.

You can be sure I oversee every part of the online gallery and operations. You can be sure you will receive credible outstanding service. I guarantee it! Enjoy!
