

cracking

by Mia Colabella

The thrill you get when stepping on cracking ice
Is addictive
Much like the feeling of cheating death
And the feeling of control
But with every crack
It becomes control of life and death
And control of how you choose to live or die
But stepping on cracking ice
Is temporary fading
And with every step you take
The loss of control is provoking
And the feeling of stepping on cracking ice
Is no longer cheating death
It is provoking it
