Put Your Lights On

Statement:

My thoughts turn to the brightest lights in our universe, that of the sun, the moon and the stars—a macrocosm of ever-constant life-sustaining light — equally available to all living beings, creatures and plants. How wondrous.

During the shorter light-deprived days of Winter I reflect on how I can sustain feelings of hope and confidence. As I look inward to the realm of the microcosm, somehow I find the wisdom to take correct action, the courage to face difficulties head on and the compassion to engage and find common ground with others. Enveloped by the lights of the macrocosm, the lights of wisdom, courage, compassion well forth lighting my path forward. Again, how wondrous.

Let's appreciate and celebrate. Put your lights on!
