Welcome to Autumn! It's been 90 degrees here in Tulsa, but I can still feel Fall in the air. Welcome also to my old and new friends I've recently met around the country. In this update I'll share my recent print winners, highlight some new images, share my schedule, and wait for it!..... I now have calendars available!!!

Congratulations to Becky from Marietta, Kelly from Wichita and Shanna from Omaha for winning free prints when they signed up for my email list.

I had some great shows in September, and I'm about to start my final few shows of the year. Next weekend I'm in Texas for the Cottonwood Arts Festival in Richardson. I then return to Tulsa for the Brush Creek Bazaar, and then head to New Jersey for the Brookdale Park Fall Art Festival in Montclair. My final show is back in Tulsa at the Fall Home Expo at the Exchange Center in Expo Square.

If the Autumn weather has you thinking Fall Color, you can use the search function on my website and search for "fallcolor" and it will display all my Aspen, Sugar Maple, and all other pictures that feature Fall colors. Click here to go directly to that very search.

Now for what so many of you have all been asking for - Calendars!

Lighthouses (East Coast)

Cape Cod

Colorado

Rusty Transportation

Military Aircraft

Tulsa

Oklahoma City After Dark

My calendars are 11" x 17" with a ring binding. The images can either be framed with a white border or be full page (full bleed). You can also specify the starting month, so you're not locked into January.

They are printed on 100# Gloss Cover Stock & 100# Gloss Book Stock, and the paper is FSC Mix Certified recycled which ensures that all virgin pulp is derived from well-managed forests.

As a bonus for those interested, the company I am using to print these also offers a free upgrade to include a daily tide chart for the entire year for wherever you are located. Of course for all of us who are land-locked or not boaters you can skip the tide chart!. The choice is yours!

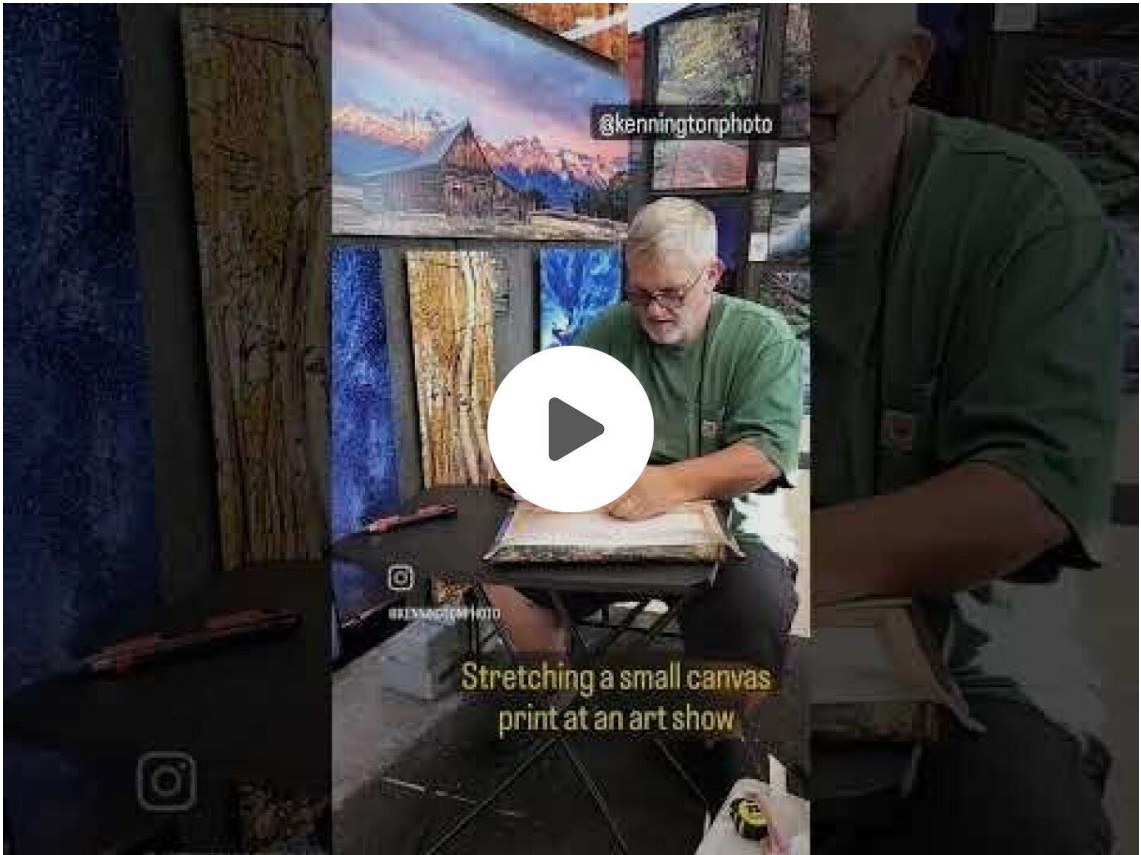

I've tried to keep the cost down, so they are just $19.95, and less if you get more than one. The shipping is also very reasonable.

Just for fun, here is a short hyperlapse video I did at a recent show of me stretching a small canvas. (Note I posted these in real-time on my Instagram and Facebook pages, so be sure to follow me there if you use them.)
