

Beginner-Level Animal Communication Workshop

Instructor – Mary Clouse

SESSION DETAILS:

Classes will all be on Saturday mornings, beginning at 9am ET, ending around noon.

Session dates: February 28, March 7, March 14

Cost – all three sessions $295

- Session 1 – Introduction to animal communication. This session will focus on the basics of the process, walk participants through warm-up exercises and answer common questions about how and what animals typically communicate. Recommended reading prior to class: *Medicine Horse Woman – Lessons on Spirituality and Healing from an Animal Communicator* available on Amazon. Students will be provided with tips sheets that provide practical guidance on the way to ask an animal different types of questions.
- Session 2 – Working Session with Mary's Team Animals – I have a farm full of animals, all experienced with beginner students. The focus of this session is to give participants the chance to test their fledgling skills with willing subjects. Students are encouraged to ask LOTS of questions (it's the best way to learn and usually someone else is thinking the same thing!). I have found this session is probably the most important part in terms of really opening up a student's new-found skills.
- Session 3 – Practice Session – Working with Attendees' Animals – This session is all about YOUR animals. Each participant will have dedicated time to ask a few questions of their pet (one animal per attendee) and be provided with a group reading, and my input.
